SAUK VALLEY COMMUNITY COLLEGE
BOARD OF TRUSTEES
RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, a retired College employee, Thomas D. Harding, and his spouse, Peggy L. Harding, commenced a small claims action in the Circuit Court of Lee County, against the College in case 99 SC 931 seeking judgment for $5,000.00, which case was set for trial for December 14, 1999; and

WHEREAS, the action involved contentions regarding Peggy L. Harding's right to continuation on the College's self-insured medical plan. Participation in the plan had been accorded to Peggy L. Harding as a special accommodation at Thomas D. Harding's request because of her failure to get coverage under the State's medical insurance plan for retirees. The intent of the College was to permit continuation on its plan until she was eligible for coverage under the state plan. By virtue of changes in the State plan, she became eligible for State coverage sooner than anticipated and the College terminated her coverage under its plan; and

WHEREAS, the College denied and does deny that it did anything improper or that it was or is responsible to either Thomas D. Harding or Peggy L. Harding for any of its acts or that it owed any duty to continue insurance coverage; and

WHEREAS, the trial of the issues would have required significant expense to successfully defend, because the case could involve complex issues involving contract law issues and federal law; and

WHEREAS, because it is in the best interests of the College to avoid protracted litigation regarding such matters, the Board authorized its counsel to effect closure of the matter by settlement in the amount of $2,800.00, provided (a) that there be dismissal of the action with prejudice; and (b) that the Hardings execute an appropriate release; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to authority to dispose of the case, on December 14, 1999, its attorney effected settlement of the action and on December 15, 1999, the case was dismissed, and the period for appeal by Hardings has now expired;

NOW THEREFORE, IT IS RESOLVED that the Board approves and ratifies the settlement of the case No. 99 SC 931 effected on December 14, 1997, and the payment of the sum of $2,800.00 on December 14, 1999, in exchange for dismissal of the action with prejudice and the execution of a release substantially in the form attached hereto as Exhibit "A".

Adopted this 24th day of January, 2000.

RELEASE OF ALL CLAIMS

For the sole consideration of Two Thousand Eight Hundred and no/100 Dollars ($2,800.00) to the undersigned in hand paid, receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, the undersigned, Peggy L. Harding and Thomas D. Harding, both of 17826 W. South Port Road, Brimfield, Illinois 61517, wife and husband, being of lawful age, do hereby and for our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns, totally release, acquit and forever discharge Sauk Valley Community College, Dixon, Illinois, Richard Behrendt, Ruth Bittner, Wilkens-Lowe and Co., Professional Benefit Administrators, Inc., Frank Nelson, Ronald Walters, (individually and collectively "releasees") and its, his, her or their agents, servants, successors, heirs, executors, administrators, and all other persons, firms, corporations, associations or partnerships of and from any and all claims, actions, causes of actions, demands, rights, damages, costs and expenses whatsoever, which the undersigned now have or which may hereafter accrue on account of or in any way growing out of any federal or state statutes and all contracts with any of the releasees which contracts and statutory rights are or which could have been the subject of that certain litigation styled as "Thomas D. Harding, Peggy L. Harding, Plaintiffs, v. Sauk Valley Community College, Richard Behrendt, Ruth Bittner, Defendants," in the Circuit Court of Lee County, Illinois, case No. 99 SC 931, along with all rights under the federal statute and regulations commonly known as "COBRA," and any other federal or state statute or contractual rights arising in any way out of the employment relationship of Thomas D. Harding with Sauk Valley Community College. (This Release of All Claims does not apply to or affect any pending claim for group health benefits filed with the group health plan of Sauk Valley Community College prior to September 1, 1999, or for treatment provided to Peggy L. Harding prior to September 1, 1999, but is intended to be a complete and total release of all other claims against the parties released.)

It is understood and agreed that this settlement is the compromise of a doubtful and disputed claim, and that the payment made or the compromise reached is not to be construed as an admission of liability by or on the part of any party hereby released, and that all releasees expressly deny liability therefor and intend merely to avoid litigation and buy their peace. The undersigned will immediately execute a stipulation for dismissal with prejudice of the above-described lawsuit pending in Lee County, Illinois. Sauk Valley Community College shall see to the entry of an order of dismissal with prejudice by the Court, and furnish a copy thereof to the undersigned.

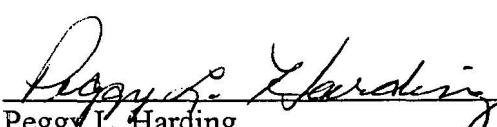

The undersigned hereby declare and represent that they have sought and obtained counsel and advice from attorneys and from appropriate federal and state governmental agencies, and in making this Release of All Claims the undersigned rely wholly upon the undersigneds' joint and several judgment, belief and knowledge of the law and facts applicable to the controversy between the parties.

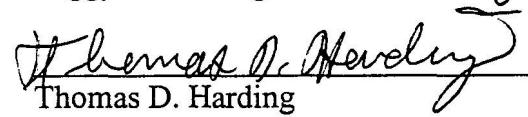

The undersigned further declare and represent that no promise, inducement or agreement not herein expressed has been made to the undersigned, and that this Release contains the entire agreement between the parties hereto, and that the terms of this Release are contractual and not a mere recital.

EACH OF THE UNDERSIGNED HAS READ THE FOREGOING RELEASE AND FULLY UNDERSTANDS IT.

MEMORANDUM

SUBJECT: Analysis of Medical Benefits Costs

Health insurance is the highest-cost benefit the College offers its employees, accounting for about $400,000, or 5%, of the annual operating funds budget. Therefore, it's important to review it from a financial perspective periodically to ensure that the costs are reasonable for the value received.

Background

In August 1992 the College adopted a partial self-insurance plan for employee health care benefits. Under the plan, health care providers send claims to our plan administrator, PBA Inc., which pays the claims and then bills the College weekly for reimbursement. Therefore, the College pays the actual costs of employees' medical bills instead of premiums to an insurance company. However, liability for large claims is limited, since we purchase a stop-loss insurance policy from PBA to cover claims between $50,000 and $819,007 per person per year, and another aggregate stop-loss policy for claims exceeding $819,007. In addition, employees with family coverage pay into the plan through payroll deduction.

Sauk's medical plan has undergone three changes in the last two years. In March 1998 optional prescription coverage was offered for non-faculty; in February 1999 that coverage became part of the standard plan for all employees. Also in February 1999 the plan added a preferred provider organization (PPO) option as an alternative to the traditional 80/20 indemnity-type coverage. The PPO option helps control costs because the providers who are part of the PPO group have agreed to charge discounted fees for College employees. Finally, in July 1999 retirees were dropped from the College's plan, since they could then join the new statewide community college retirees plan through SURS.

Cost Analysis

The attached Table 1 summarizes the College's health claims experience for fiscal years 1998 and 1999, as compared to the first six months of fiscal year 2000. (These figures include all employees, not just those whose salary and benefits are charged to the operating funds. About $400,000 is budgeted in the operating funds, with the rest in grants, the auxiliary fund, and the liability/protection/settlement fund.) A quick look at the data might indicate that costs for FY 2000 are on a pace to rise well out of line with the previous years. However, a more in-depth analysis reveals that FY 2000 costs really are well under control, in fact with a significant decrease. The actual and revised analyses appear on the table as “Actual Costs” and “Restated Costs.”

One might expect medical claims costs for FY 99 to increase about 10% from FY 98 due to inflation, but also drop by 4% or 5% because of five months in FY 99 of the lower-cost PPO option. Prescription claims should increase significantly with a full year of implementation for some employees and five months for others. For FY 2000, one would expect medical claims costs to decrease about 10% because of the PPO discount, balanced by a 10% inflationary increase; also, the cost for retiree claims should be gone because they are no longer part of the plan. Prescription claims should increase about 10% for inflation, plus more for a full year of usage by all employees. Retirees claims should be gone.

However, actual costs show a 20% decrease overall from FY 98 to FY 99 (from $640,191 to $510,638), and FY 2000 appears to be headed for an 80% increase over FY 99 ($466,453 for a half year). These results seem puzzling and a cause for concern until one considers the change made in administration of the plan in the fall of 1999. From February 1999 through mid-fall, health care providers sent Sauk claims to Health Alliance, which reviewed them and calculated the PPO discount before sending them on to PBA for payment. We experienced significant delays in processing under that system, so during the fall the College ended its relationship with Health Alliance and transferred all processing and payment responsibilities to PBA. The data reflect these administrative delays. A review of weekly billings indicates that claims processing dropped from April through August; then most of the pre-July 1 claims finally made it through the system by early October, at which point weekly payments returned to a more consistent level. It should be noted that some old claims continue to trickle in even now.

To adjust the analysis for the delayed payments, the “Restated Costs” side of the chart assumes that all medical claims paid for active employees and retirees in July, August and September 1999 should have been part of FY 99 instead of FY 2000. Of course, this is an estimate – some of the claims paid that quarter were for FY 2000. However, that amount is balanced by the FY 99 claims that were paid after September, so the estimate should be reasonable.

After this timing shift, the “Restated Costs” side captures a more reasonable picture. It shows that FY 99’s medical claims increased by 5%, which can be explained by inflation, less savings from the PPO. Prescription claims increased significantly because of greater implementation of the program. The stop-loss premium increased by 35% because of a large claim paid out in FY 98. So, the total cost for FY 99 is in line with expectations based on FY 98.

Table 2 shows projected actual expense for the full year FY 2000, along with a rough tentative budget estimate for FY 2001. Assuming there are no extraordinary claims before the end of FY 2000, medical costs for active employees should decrease by about 40% from FY 99; even with extraordinary claims equal to the amount shown in the FY 2001 budget column there would still be a 10% decrease in costs. Prescription claims appear headed for a 65% increase over FY 99, indicating increased use above inflationary expectations as we experience the first full year with coverage of all employees. Retiree costs are minimal, reflecting only catch-up payments for FY 99 claims. The stop-loss insurance and administrative fees are in line with FY 99.

In conclusion, the PPO option first offered in February 1999 appears to be doing the job of controlling medical costs, with a projected savings of at least 10%, or $50,000, this year. Moving the retirees from the Sauk plan to the state plan will save the College about $80,000 per year as soon as all the old claims are paid. It's too soon to tell for prescription costs – the first good comparisons will develop for FY 2001 vs. FY 2000, with two complete years of full coverage.

Finally, it's interesting to note that in 1992 Prudential planned to charge Sauk an annual premium of $810,000. Eight years later the annual cost for self-insurance has not yet reached that level (projected $649,825 in FY 2000; projected $609,700 in FY 2001).

Insurance Reserve

When the College adopted self-insurance in August 1992, the financial impact was uncertain. Therefore, the accounting system was set up to charge the operating funds the same amount they would have been charged if we had continued paying premiums to Prudential. Instead of balancing that expense with a check to the company, though, we credited a restricted account in the Auxiliary Fund. Then the actual payments for medical costs were charged into that fund, along with employee payroll deductions for family coverage. This restricted reserve had the effect of smoothing operating expenses from year to year, since the operating fund absorbed only the standard budgeted amount while positive or negative variances ended up in the reserve. This reserve is the fund that is reported to the Board of Trustees each month on the "Medical Insurance Report."

The reserve is not needed operationally. Discussions with the College's audit manager and insurance agent indicate that some self-insured for-profit companies set up a reserve to gain tax benefits and also to maintain a one or two month cash flow reserve, which is the reason why some governmental agencies have similar funds. It is not a highly recommended or standard practice to have a reserve fund – instead, it's optional based on each entity's needs and preferences.

For Sauk, cash flow on the scale required for monthly medical payments is not a problem, so the cash flow benefit is moot. From an accounting principles perspective, all of the actual costs should be in the operating funds rather than the auxiliary fund. In the early years it was important to have the reserve because of the uncertainty of how well self-insurance would work. However, at this point the annual cost for medical benefits is as reasonably predictable as insurance premium rates would be at budget time. Stop-loss insurance protects the College from major losses, and smaller unexpectedly high claims are no different for the budget than are unexpected premium increases from an insurance company. Therefore, the reserve no longer serves the useful stop-loss purpose it once had. The reserve fund should, therefore, be eliminated, and all accounting for medical benefits should appear in the operating funds.

Sauk Valley Community College
In-Service Presentation on Safety Procedures /
January 7, 2000

Safety depends on all of us. The Safety/Loss Control committee took the lead last semester in planning for safety. We talked about not just the type of gunman/hostage situations that have been in the news, but also more "traditional" emergencies such as fire or tornadoes, and nitty-gritty topics like how high the lip of a doorsill can be and still permit easy access for a wheelchair.

I'd like to tell you about some of the projects we've worked on and show you the tangible results of our meetings.

Emergency Evacuation of People in Wheelchairs

In an emergency, elevators aren't always available. So, if someone in a wheelchair is on the third floor during an emergency, how do they get to the first floor? We looked at several options, including installing a fixed wheelchair lift in a stairwell, using various kinds of stretchers, or even just carrying the people downstairs. We settled on using the Garaventa Evacutrac, a sort of rolling stretcher/wheelchair contraption that is designed for use on stairs. Keith Bos met with our wheelchair-bound students individually during the fall to learn their needs and comfort levels with the different choices, and the Evacutrac seems to be the best. We've bought 2 of them, to be delivered very soon. They'll be installed on the third floor, in the central main stairwell and in the westernmost stairs that reach the third floor. Our security and maintenance staffs will be trained in use of the Evacutracs, but we thought you'd like to see the demonstration video so that you'll understand how it works, too.

Emergency Procedures Flipchart

Communication is key in an emergency. When a crisis hits, sometimes our thoughts just freeze, and we momentarily don't know quite how to react. We were impressed with a version of this chart that another community college has done, so we decided to adapt it to Sauk. One will be posted in every classroom in the building and in office areas, and we'll distribute it to faculty and staff as well

There is no way to script every emergency. If one could foresee every contingency and control all that happens, there would be no need for emergency plans, because there'd never be an emergency. But, in this chart we've tried to hit the "must know" steps for common types of crises. It covers things like who to call for help, where to go if there's a tornado, what to do in a medical emergency, and more. We hope we never have to use the flipchart. If we've done our jobs well, hopefully the topics are self-explanatory.

Emergency Response and Crisis Management Plan

The flipchart is just the tip of the iceberg for how to manage an emergency. It includes just the most important, quick information that building occupants need to know.

Backing that up is a complete plan, to be used by Jim Frederick, Scott Seeley, and the other people who would be in charge during a crisis. We already have a plan in place, and the committee will continue editing it this semester.

Facilities Master Plan

The FUB, or Facilities Utilization Board, has been busy the last few months developing a site master plan. One section of that plan deals with safety and accessibility issues as they relate to our facility. The I'UB asked the Safety/Loss Control Committee to write that chapter's draft, so they did. We expect the complete facilities master plan to be done in March, in time for overall college planning and budgeting.

Faculty and Staff Training

In the course of our discussions, a repeated theme has been that plans and building improvements are great things, but they'll work a lot better if people know how to carry them out. Now, we don't expect every employee to be a fully trained safety expert, ready to jump to the fore and perform emergency surgery or put out a fire or take out a gunman. In fact, we don't want you to do that. But, there are some skills that will help in an emergency and that should also improve each of our comfort levels in knowing what to do. The committee has suggested several topics for training seminars, and we're looking at offering them either at the March workshop day or some other time this year. Please note that one item on the list is a fire drill. It will probably be pre-announced – we don't want people to panic, and we don't want people to ignore it – we would like to get everybody's cooperation to run a really good drill so we know if our procedures work.

REVIEW:

I. Leadership & Core Values Institute

The President, Vice President of Instruction, Vice President of Student Services, Vice President of Administration and a Professor of Sociology attended the Leadership and Core Values Institute on May 4, 1998.

II. Shared Values Team Formed

At the College's August 21, 1998 Fall In-Service, Dr. Richard Behrendt shared with the entire campus the concept of core values and how it was possible to use values as a springboard to our new planning phase at the College.

Following several discussions on Core Values, it was decided that a Sauk team would be formed to move the College forward in a process of Institutional Renewal, which had as its base -- Shared Values. The team organized a planning process to include discovery of shared values, review of the College mission statement, development of a shared vision statement, new strategic plan and operational plan, and finally preparation for the North Central Association Accreditation Visit.

III. Formation of a Community College Consortium

A grant proposal was submitted to ICCB, which was the collaborative work of five community colleges: Kaskaskia, Kishwaukee, Illinois Valley, McHenry, and Sauk Valley. The proposal included a four-day training session on Core Values and an invitation to Rush Kidder to work in various capacities with each College.

IV. Ethical Fitness Training

On October 26-29, 1998 Sauk Valley sent a shared values team to Crystal Lake for an Ethical Fitness Seminar and a Train-The-Trainer session on values conducted by the Global Institute of Ethics. The team, consisting of faculty, administration and support staff, identified core values and planned for the next steps for College implementation.

V. College-Wide In-service

January 1999, Rushworth Kidder was invited to explain the concepts of Core Values to the entire College and lead them through a discovery of Sauk Valley Community College's shared values. Five values were solidified upon: Respect, Responsibility, Fairness, Integrity, and Caring .

VI. Brown Bag Discussions

To facilitate continued discussion on shared values, weekly brown bag meetings were established. A key component to the discussions was application of the values, how does the college community live the values that have been identified, and how can values facilitate institutional renewal.

VII. Shared Values Statement Exercise

During the March spring workshop, the entire college was divided up into 10 different teams to work on College-wide value statements. All information was presented, discussed and the shared values' team combined the information into values' statement.

VIII. Dream/Vision

The shared values team went to the Leadership Colloquium I in Springfield, IL on March 28-30, 1999. Through this experience it was decided that a historical project would be started in conjunction with the values. A historical video would be made to rediscover the original dream of SVCC 35 years ago. Memorabilia will be collected and brought to a community room where individuals can gather to discuss vision, values, etc. and to renew the sense of community within the college. Also, a WEB page on ethics was developed for the College.

IX. Mission Statement

During the summer semester, the shared values team agreed to meet on a weekly basis to move the process forward. They rewrote the mission statement and discussed ways of incorporating the shared values/ethics into the daily lives of the college community.

X. Fall In-Service 1999

A major portion of the day was devoted once again to Shared Values. The committee's plan for moving the developed values, mission, vision and shared values statement through the NCA visitation process was shared with faculty and staff. A finalized mission statement was agreed upon. A panel of original SVCC faculty and staff shared their perspective on the values of Sauk at its inception.

XI. Leadership and Core Values Grant Proposal

The committee worked with Dr. Linda Little to write an ICCB grant proposal with the following objectives: (a) to raise the level of awareness of our values through increasing the visibility of the values statement and organizing archival material recapturing the college's history; (b) to further develop the abilities of faculty, staff, and students as leaders of this effort; (c) to integrate values development into instructional areas, staff development, and student development activities; and (d) to ensure that the knowledge gained through conference attendance and other experiences is actively shared with the college community.

Re: Policy 502.01

Dear Richard:

As I mentioned at the last Board meeting, this policy has a statutory citation that is no longer specifically accurate. There are two alternatives: either change the statutory citation to say, "805/3-29," or the reference to the citation can be removed altogether, because it is not necessary to the policy.

As a matter of information, the current statute (which defines a duty of the Board to insure), provides, in relevant part as follows:

"[it is the duty of the College] to insure against any loss or liability of the district or board members, employees, and student teachers of boards against civil rights damage claims and suits, constitutional rights damage claims and suits and death, bodily injury and property damage claims and suits, including defense thereof, when damages are sought for alleged negligent or wrongful acts while such board member, employee, or student teacher is engaged in the exercise or performance of any powers or duties of the board, or is acting within the scope of employment or under the direction of the board. Such insurance shall be carried in a company licensed to write such coverage in this State."

The existing policy does not specifically parallel the statutory language. For example, note that the statute refers to "exercise of performance of any powers or duties of the Board..." but the policy does not include that provision. The statute also has a clause which obligates the College to indemnify and protect board members, employees, et al., and Policy 502.01 does not refer to the duty of the College to indemnify.

To keep up with the vagaries of the law, and to avoid having the Policy conflict with possible court decisions in those situations where the right to indemnity or insurance may be in issue because of some sort of deliberate act that would preclude indemnification as a matter of public policy, you might want to consider a more truncated policy along the following lines:

The College shall indemnify board members and employees of the board, and provide liability insurance to insure the College, board members and employees of the board, as required by Section 805/3-29 of the Public Community College Act.

I am happy to discuss this with you if you'd like.

Very truly yours,
